How to Locate Specific Journals, Newspapers, and Magazines

1. Start on the library homepage and select the “Journals” search option located under the main search box.

2. Enter the name of the journal, newspaper, or magazine you’re looking for in the search box.

3. If GVSU has access to the journal, newspaper, or magazine you’ll see a list of links to the resources where you can find it.

4. If you want to browse an issue of the publication (like that most recent one, for example), select the database that spans the years you’re looking for.

5. If you’re looking for an article from that publication on a particular topic, at the bottom of the list of resources is a search box that allows you to search for a keyword or phrase in the journal, newspaper, or magazine.